Famous Philly's

Beef & Beer Family Sports Pub

It's Monday Night, about an hour before kickoff between the Eagles and the Cowboys. A Philly fan in an Asante Samuel jersey is leading the one hundred plus Eagles fans in a loud chant of "E-A-G-L-E-S!" The atmosphere is electric, maybe better than any live sporting event in town.

Famous Philly's brings a piece of Philadelphia to Port Orange with its food, its sports teams and its culture. Philadelphia native, musician and restaurateur par excellence Joe Trappuzzano, opened the restaurant to provide a truly authentic northern experience and atmosphere in the great Philly tradition.

It's about 10 minutes before kickoff. Joe brings a big American flag to the front to lead the packed house to its feet for our national anthem. The spirit in the room is unbelievably moving.

If you want a cheesesteak done right, you go to Famous Philly's, where they use a combination of authentic Amoroso rolls and bread of Joe's own recipe. Joe says, "Our food is so fresh, it's tomorrow's."® If you want Cheese Whiz® on your Steak, you've got it. For dessert, try the authentic Philadelphia Tasty Kakes®.

The Eagles have just recovered a fumble in the end zone, seizing the lead from the quick-starting Dallas Cowboys. Joe rings the bell like crazy while the place goes bonkers, with everyone high-fiving each other as neighbors and friends. Nobody feels like a stranger here.

Famous Philly's brings a piece of the city's great sporting tradition inside its doors. The front corner features a whole wall of players from past Eagles teams. Eagles' players who have dined at Famous Philly's have signed the ceiling. The décor is perfect.

It's half-time and everybody's gathered outside for a destruction ritual of Terrell Owens' old Eagles Jersey. It's like a big family outing.

Famous Philly's great menu isn't limited to their amazing cheesesteaks. They also feature fresh wings that are never frozen, deli-stack sandwiches and a fun kids menu. The servers and bartenders are very outgoing and will take great care of you.

The game stays tight throughout the second half, with the two teams exchanging leads. Unfortunately, tonight is not the night for the Eagles, as they fall just short. Two things you can count on, though; First, Famous Philly's will never come up short when it comes to providing an awesome and authentic northern experience with its food and its atmosphere. For anyone with Yankee blood running through their veins, Famous Philly's will warm your heart and soul. Secondly, and you can count on this: The Eagles will always be back to fly another day.
